carl lewis mot 25 treadmill manual

I rang Carl Lewis Support and they said to check the connections on the circuit board Located in the floor panel next to the motor. If the treadmill had recently been moved something may have been dislodged. I checked mine and found a few loose wires and plugged them fully back in but this didnt help my treadmill. Im awaiting a response from an email i sent them now.Login to post Pull up older posts. Found this link, but I cant give you any warranty isf site is serious and youll get your stuff or just a scam. Never used any payed download from this site. Carl Lewis ELP30 owners manual I rang Carl Lewis Support and they said to check the connections on the circuit board Located in the floor panel next to the motor. Im awaiting a response from an email i sent them now.I checked the brushes, they were fine. Scared to use it again I purchased this treadmill used from a snap fitness and it didn't have the lower control pca. I replaced the pca 2 days ago, tested the treadmill, worked great. Yesterday, I ran 1 mile on the treadmill, worked great. Today, I go to start the treadmill, it immediately starts fast and runs for 12 seconds, then stops and gives error code 6. I ran it through the speed calibration program with no luck. I need ti charge the unit every other day Answer questions, earn points and help others. Im awaiting a response from an email i sent them now.Login to post First, try to release the treadmill belt pressure so that you can turn the rollers by hand. If all of the rollers turn except one, that is probably the drive roller. If you are careful you should be able to take the belt off and get to the drive roller and its motor. Check the motor is getting power. There is probably a reset switch on the motor, reset it. If it still doesnt turn.replace the motor.I rang Carl Lewis Support and they said to check the connections on the circuit board Located in the floor panel next to the motor. Home Fitness Cardio Carl Lewis 566 Treadmill Instructions By Jolie Johnson Fact Checked Published 08 July, 2011 The Carl Lewis 566 treadmill is a motorized, folding treadmill with basic programming features. It has a 1.75 horsepower motor that supports speeds up to 16 kph, or 10 mph. You can manually incline the running deck to two different positions. The console features quickset speed buttons, six builtin workout programs and one manual program.

The backlit blue display shows the time, distance, speed, calories and heart rate. The deck is cushioned for a more comfortable workout. Adjust the incline before beginning your workout. Lift the back of the treadmill. Pull the incline leg towards you. It will lock into position. Continue pulling the incline leg until it locks into the second incline position, if desired. Carefully lower the running deck back to the floor. Attach the red safety clip to your waistband. Insert the magnetic safety key into the slot on the console. This activates the manual mode. The belt will start at 1 kph. Use the speed arrow up and down buttons to adjust the speed of the belt. You can also press one of the three quickset buttons on the console to automatically change the speed to 3, 6 or 9 kph. The profiles for the six preset programs are on the console. The 566 treadmill will automatically adjust the speed settings for you during the workout. Grab the side hand rails to check your heart rate. Wrap your hands around the pulse sensors located on the hand rails. Continue to hold until your pulse appears in the display. Follow the American College of Sports Medicine recommendations for physical activity. Do 30 minutes of moderately intense cardio, five times per week or do 20 minutes of vigorously intense cardio, three times per week. Tips Always consult a physician before starting any workout program.
